

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The intercultural exchange of intercultural training contents, core-elements and culture specifics is important to figure out the national, culture-specific didactic and understanding of intercultural trainings, the correlating needs and demands as well as the culture-specific interactivity with the participating trainees.

In Austria, Poland and Latvia is done

- a national analysis of existing trainings
- the work out of a country-specific intercultural training (in English language) in each partner country (held with local participants of the given target groups) –
- the evaluation of these trainings on site.

The final result of the „Comparative study on culture-specific intercultural trainings in AT,PL & LV“ will show

- the national situation of intercultural trainings especially in the field of used training methods and culture specifics
- the evaluated results, differences and similarities as well as culture specific singularities.

A better understanding of need, demands and practices of intercultural trainings within the participating countries and the correlating increase of information and practice of the country-specific culture itself and the culture-specific aspects within the trainings will be an added value to trainers and trainees.
